Before Boats

I will go to Australian Wooden Boat Festival
at Parliament House Lawns in Hobart to be part of a show called Boats.

Parliament House lawns is a wide open space with lots of grass and trees.

There will be other people there to be part of Boats too.

There will be Polyglot Theatre performers dressed as sailors and other characters.

During Boats

One of the performers will give me a cloth boat in which I can sail around on my imaginary sea.

There will be other people sailing too.

I can choose to sail near them or sail away.

There might be performers dressed as sharks!

Trying to escape is part of the fun!

I can be a seagull or sail
by myself if I want to.

After Boats

When Boats is finished I can return my boat to the harbour.

Some Polyglot Theatre performers I might meet:

Briony

About Australian Wooden Boat Festival

Held across Hobart's vibrant and bustling waterfront, the four-day festival brings together the largest and most beautiful collection of wooden boats in the southern hemisphere. From its humble beginnings in 1994, it has grown to become the most significant event of its kind in Australia.

Along with the exhibition of these beautiful boats, both afloat and ashore, the festival delivers a lively combination of incredible local food, live entertainment, music, demonstrations and displays. Don't miss the Maritime Marketplace at Princes Wharf No. 1, the exciting Children's Area at Parliament House Lawns, the Tasmanian Fishing Industry display, the International Wooden Boat Symposium, the Shipwright's Village and of course the wonderful display of classic and modern wooden boats across the waterfront.

The Australian Wooden Boat Festival has all the elements of a summer celebration by the sea..
