

Sound of Drawing

By Polyglot Theatre

Presented by State Library Victoria as part of Kids Takeover

Visual Story

Before Sound of Drawing

I will go to State Library Victoria in the city of Melbourne to be part of a show called Sound of Drawing.

State Library Victoria is a large building with a lawn in front of it.

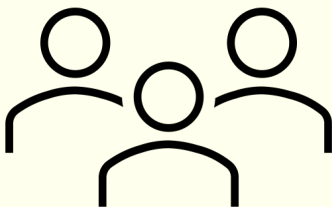

Inside there are many open spaces where people read.

Sound of Drawing
will be inside the Ian Potter Queen's Hall
on the third floor

There will be friendly people at the library
who will let me know that I am in the right place. I can say hello if I want to.

Other people will also be arriving for Sound of Drawing.

During Sound of Drawing

A large table will be laid out with paper and lots of crayons

There will be headphones for me to use.

When I put them on, I will be able to hear the sound of my own drawing!

Lots of other people will be drawing too.

Together we will make a spectacular,
multicoloured artwork.

My hands might get coloured too!

I can wash them when the session is finished.

Some Polyglot Theatre performers I might meet:

Justine

Tirese

I can enjoy the feeling of drawing that I am creating and the sound it makes.

Other people will be enjoying drawing and listening too.

At the end of the session, I will be able to look at the drawings that we have all created.

After Sound of Drawing

When Sound of Drawing is finished, I can take my time to explore the space.

There will be many drawings hanging around me in this space.

About State Library Victoria

Established in 1854 as the Melbourne Public Library, State Library Victoria is Australia's oldest public library and one of the first free public libraries in the world.

We want the Library to be a place for all in a changing world and to inspire possibilities. We want to be a cultural and heritage destination for Victorians, and a catalyst for generating new knowledge and ideas.

The State Library will make a major contribution to the continuing development of a knowledge and creativity-based economy for Victoria, and a socially and culturally rich society.
